The Sau Juan Island Affair. London Times of the 27th ult., make the San Juan Island affair the subject of its lead-ing article. This article, however, is but the eche of other articles which have appeared in the daily "Thunderer." The firm tone of the American journals is caricatured; the moderation of our Government in the face of popular projudice is praised, and the claim of England to the disputed territory is emphatically sustained. The object which the Times has in view is patent enough. All its articles relating to the San Juan difficulty, when closely examined, disclose its want of confidence in the justice of the Eng. lish claim, but it tries to sustain this claim by exciting prejudice against the course of action adopted by General HARNEY. Denuzciation of HARNET's course is the staple of Emplish criticism. It is regretted in a pharaisaical style) that Gen. HARNEY should, "by his "ashraess," have endangered the peaceful relations existing between the two countries, and the hope is expressed that the American Government will disavow his interference. Even flattery is used to induce the President and his Cabinet to repudia e Gen. HARNAT's acts, and the Times, after misrepresenting the state of the controversy, thus endeavors to mislead public opinion in England, and 'soft sawder" Mr. Bu-

CRANAN.

President Bremanan, though notoriously predispresed against the English, hag, with the full assent of his Cabinet and of the public opinion of his countrymen, shown a disposition to settle the matter amicably, knowing the unauthorized act of General Harray, and recoring the controversy to the position in which it stood before June last. General Scory has been despatched to take the command in Washington Territory, and, unless some unfortunate execunter has taken place already, there can be little doubt that the two governments will arrive at at an understanding. This is the President's crime in the eyes of a section of American journalists! Submission to England, dereliction of duty, betrayal of your hardy pioneers, "are charged against the chief magistrate, mingled with the usual boasting about whipping the Britisher, and planting the flag of freedom on every portion of the continent.

The Times is laboring under a mistake.

The Times is laboring under a mistake. American journals have not yet accused Mr. BUCHANAN of submission to England, nor of dereliction from duty in this matter. They have, tain our rights; and the dispatch of Gen. Scorr to the scene of strife is approved by men of all shades of political opinion. We are satisfied that England will not go to war with us to secure possession of San Juan Island, and our government should disregard her bluster. We yielded much in the adjustment of the Oregon Boundary question, and any further concessions at this time would bring upon the present admin istration a weight of odium greater than it has incurred during its troubled existence. If, as the Times says, the island of San Juan is the key to the Gulf of Georgia, it is our dutywhen it is our right-to hold that key.

The Mayoralty question greatly exercises the minds of the Tammany Hall men. The shadow of FERNANDO the First falls across their path and frightens them as a ghostly appearance would frighten children. The old courage, the old Roman armness and resolution which characterized the men of Tammsny in former days, seems to be wanting in the men who now guide her courcils. Before the serpent which they warmed into life they tow shrink back in dismey. There was a time when Tammany knew how to deal with traitors and rebels; but those were the days when no man could set himself up and say to the party, "I must be the candidate for this office, or I shall defeat your nomin-

THE WEEKS OF THE BOYAL CHARTER.

By the City of Baltimore, we received brief accounts of the wreck of the screw steamship Royal Charter, and of the fearful loss of life involved therein. We are now in peasession of graphic and coptous details of the sad colamity.

It appears that the Royal Charter, when within 3 or 3 hours' sail of Liverpeol, (after a rapid passage from Melbourne) experienced the full fury of a berrible north-cast gale which prevailed all over England during the night of the 20th and 26th ultimo. The steam power of the vessel being merely auxiliary, it was insufficient to prevent her from being driven towards the shore, and as the water was rapidly shealing, it became necessary at about ten colcek at night to let go the anchore—guns having been previously fired, and rock wis cisc aarged, in the hopes of attracting a pilot, but without success. The gale meantime increased to a perfect hurrican, and at 2 clock in the moorning the port anchor chan parted, and shortly afterwards the ship was beating on the rocks in a piace called Moelfra Bay, near Puffin Island, on the coast of Anglesea. The masts were out away, but without any beneficial result.

About daylight, (6 o'clock,) a sailor, with a cord tied arcund his waist, jumped overboard, and, although the sea ran tremendously high he succeeded in vaching and maintaining a footing on the rocky shore, which was not more than ten yards distant from the ship, but was aimest perpendicular to the height of forty feet. A hawser was then got ashore and a boatswain's chair attached to it, with a view of hauling the passeogers and crew ashore. About a dozen seamen were by this means soon landed, and it was boped that all on beard might be saved. At about 7 o'clock however, the waves beating against the ship's broadside with continued violence, she suddenly snapped assunder amidship were entertained that this impute the divers.

The Royal Charter was an iron vessel of 2.749 tons register, clipper built, and furn'shed with auxiliary engines. She was built in 1885, at a cost of over £96,000, and was insured for £90,000. Her general and the same £5,000. engines. She was built in 1885, at a cost of over £96,000, and was insured for £80,000. Her general cargo was not very valuable—say £5,000.

Of the persons on board the Royal Charter when abe left Australia, 63 were cabin passengers, 355 other passengers, and 123 crew—total, 511. Of these, 17 passengers, who were transferred from a tug-boat to the Royal Charter, in the Ghannel, for conveyance to Laverpool.

Insurances were being effected at Lloyn's on the builton, at 25 per cent. premium.

The great gale which caused the wreck of the Royal Charter, and the detention of the stamers North American and City of Battimore, was most disastrous in its effects all around the coast of England. Numerous vessels (mostly coasters) were wrecked, and many lives were lost, Much damage was also done on land.

The following diesaters to American vessels are reported: The bark J. M. Thurston, Cept Grant, from Lordon for Port Tabot, in ballast, was driven ashore near Faimouth, but was subsequently towed off and taken into Faimouth harbor. The damage was not supposed to be extensive.

The ship England, from Liverpool for New Orleans, went ashore in Holyhead harbor, but was expected to be get eff.

The American ship Reckingham, from Cardiff, outward bound, lost anchors and calles in Penarth Rods, and was run on the mud.

London, Oct. 29.—The London Times' correspondent on board the Great Eastern, reports the effect of the gale. Capt. Harmson and the whole crew were at their posts, ready to run the ship out if recessary. Between 2 and 5 the wind almost equalled the force of a hurricane, at times jetking at the rassets as if it would snep them off at the deck, making the Great Eastern tremble perceptibly throughout her immense length and breadth, as if some giant hand were shaking her. Capt. Harmson's water-proof ceat, while on his way along the deck, blown to ribbons off him, and he himself at last carried before the gale act blown down and tumb'ed along with such violence, as to receive some severs contusions. The raisen skylights were blown up, and wind and rain pound into the sa'oon. The upper woodwork was taking at every soam, and the lower decks soft and spleabing from the drippings. Three auchors were down, and appeared taut to the very utmost; at 6 the breakwater works were giving way, pertions of the wreek once or twice fouling the screw, and it was found necessary to swing by one anchor; at 10:50 A M., it partee, and the ship was adrift, rolling and tumbing towards the shore. A second heavy anchor was let go, and the screw moved ahead, but it again fouled. The paddles were then driven round at speed, and were somewhat damaged by the fit aling timbers. The anchor held. Two screw colliers, two brigs, two demmies and one gallict all hung to the ship. In this lat's truggle some of the links of the c-ble were actually dragged out one-third longer. one-third longer.

In regard to the China expedition the London Times is urgent in pressing on the government the necessity of dispatch. It says: "If we are at the landing place by March we can do the work well in one year; if we are later than April we are almost certain, that it will take two years and double our risks and our expenses. We hope, that no desire of French co-operation will induce us to carry out our politeness to so expensive an extent as to wait for them. If they should not be ready to go with us, we can divide the task with them and meet them at Pekin, or expect them at Tien Tring; perhaps we may meet the Americans there. If private American letters from China speak the truth, Mr. Wann was, with studied intent to ridicule I in, drawn to Pekin by a mule and a donkey, tandem fashion, and if his ratified treaty is found to be cestifute of the only useful stipulation the draft contained, that is to say—regulations for trade and tariffs, then we conceive that the Americans may by this time have concluded that their humility has not answered. Durability of Timber.

The durability of timber.

The durability of timber is almost incredible. The following are a few examples for illustration, being vouched for by Buffon, Du Hamel, Rosdeller and others:

The piles of a bridge built by Trajar, after having been driven more than sixteen hundred years, were found to be petrified four inches, the rest of the wood being in its ordinary condition, while taking down the old walls of Tembridge Castle, Kent, there was feund, in the middle of a thick stone wall, a timber-curb, which had been enclosed for seven hundred years. Some timbers of an old bridge were discovered while digging for the foundations of a house at Ditton Park, Windsor, which ancient records incline us to believe were placed there prior to the year, 1396. The durability of timber out of the ground is even greater still. The roof of the basilics of St. Paul, at Rome, was framed in the year $16, and now, after more than a thousand years, it is still sound: and the original cypress-wood doors of the same building, after being in use more than six hundred years, were, when replaced by others of brass, perfectly free from rot or decay, the wood retaining its original odor. The timber dome of St. Mark, at Venice, is still good, though more than $50 years old. The roof of the Jacobic Convent, at Paris, which is of fir, was executed more than 450 years ago. The age of our country's settlement does not enable us to refer to examples of like antiquity; but no good reason appears to exist why timber may not be as durable in America as in Europe. Many old white pine cornices here exist, which, having been properly painted, have been exposed to the as durable in America as in Europe. Many on white pine cornices here exist, which, having been properly painted, have been exposed to the sterms of more than 150 years. The wood is still sound, and the arrises are as good as when they were made, while freestone, in the same neighborhoods, has decayed badly in less than lifty years.—Juliowiy's Book of Modern Carpenter.

VENTION.—The convention of seamens' chaplains and friends, held during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, in the Mariner's Church, was closed last evening by religious services, in the Cooper Institute. Capt. ANDREW BARTLETT delivered short address .- B nging to the merchant service the progress of the work of reformation among sailors were very great, and he improved them by an animated sketch of the frequent conversions of 'warm hearted seamen" in the modern Athens. He urged strengly the necessity for salvation for menexposed to such constant dangers, and expressed his belief that it was a special dispensation of Providence that, as a class, sailors should so readily accept the assurances of redemption and salvation in Carist .-Brief addresses were made by Dr. Jones, of the Mariner's Church, and Rev. Dr. WALTER CLARK after which a collection was taken up in behalf of the New York Society. The choir sang an authem, in which a duct of soprano and alto was very well performed. Captain A. H. FOOTE, of the United States Navy, spoke briefly, and was followed by Rev. . W. #### JERSEY CITY. HOMICIDE IN NEWARK AVENUE. - Coroner

HOMICIDE IS NEWARK AVENUE.—COTONEY MODRIS, of Jerrey, City, held an inquest on Saturday morroon, on the body of Jerrey and Stillivan, who died the night previous from wounds inflicted with a sheath knife, by, it is alleged, a colored sailor named Elizas Jones, during a fight in Newark avenue, on the night of the first inst.

At the ante-mortem examination of deceased, he stated that about 10 c'clock, on the night of the 1st inst., he was passing up Newark Avenue, and saw a colored man, whom he did not know, and a woman talking together, near the junction of Sixth street. Deceased stopped and looked at them, when the colored man saked what he was looking at. Deceased replied that it was none of his business, when he turned around and deceased struck him. Then then fought 15 or 20 minutes. Sullivan had the colored man yeth hair and struck him, when he heard the blood rushing from his breast, and the colored man ran away. He was about 5 feet 10 inches in height, and had on a Kosswith hat.

Officer Roas testified to inding Sullivan lying wounded in the hallway of a house at the junction of Newark Avenue and 6th street, and soon afterwards found Sullivan's hat in the street, with another one, which was identified as the one worn by the negro Jones.

Officer Daley testified that between 10 and 11 or Newark Avenue and 6th street, and soon afterwards found Sunlavas's hat in the street, with another one, which was identified as the one worn by the negro Jones.

Officer Darky testified that between 10 and 11 o'cleck, on that night, he was standing on the corner of Ericand Second streets, when the negro Jones, who appeared to be drunk, came down the street, without any hat on; Jones stated that he had been attacked and beaten by two white men, in Newark Avenue, near McCov's, and had escaped without his hat. He then went down the street.

Dr. Quidon testified that he attended deceased, and found him very much prostrated from the loss of blood, produced by stabs; the principal wound was between the first and second ribs, on the left side, about one and one-half inches above the heart, and running obliquely downwards and backwards, between four and five inches deep, and penetrating the lung. Upon the post mortem examination he found about two gallons of blood and serum effused into the cavity of the chest, and the lung was completely mortified. The jury found a verdict that SULLYAN came to his death by stabs inflicted with a steath knife by ELDAH JORES, and also censured the officers for not arresting Jones when they met him. It is supposed that Jones escaped on board a coasting vessel which salled from Brooklyn the day after the affay.

The FATAL RAHLEOAD ACCIDENT.—Coroner Morans held an inquest, on Saturday, on the body of JULIAN JORE, the lad who died the night previous, from injuries received by being run over by the cars of the New York and Erie Railread company, at the Barrow street orcesing, in Jorsey City. The jury rendered a verdict that deceased came to his death by being struck by a locomotive of the New York and Erie Railread company, at the Barrow street orcesing, in Jorsey City.
